Programming

Programming Background*

Please describe the program that this grant would support and how it relates to your mission.

Example

Peer Counseling Services Inc. offers after-school support groups for middle schoolers and high schoolers. Below, Peer Counseling Services Inc. would describe what its programming is, how its programming works, and who is served.

Why PCF asks this: PCF wants to learn about what your organization does and how this work is related to carrying out your mission.

Family Enrichment Services provides in-home, family-focused, and trauma-informed counseling and related services to vulnerable youth and families throughout Pinellas County. The vast majority of the clients we serve have experienced trauma including exposure to substance abuse, domestic violence, physical and sexual abuse, and removal from parents. Clients are referred to us by child welfare agencies, schools, and Medicaid insurance companies. We receive a large number of referrals for families residing in Clearwater. All of our services aim to stabilize children and strengthen family relationships.

Our counselors have specialized skills that make them uniquely qualified to effectively serve children with significant trauma and attachment difficulties and their families. All of our counselors are Adoption Competent, and many have training in evidence-based treatment modalities like Child Parent Psychotherapy, Trauma-Focused Cognitive Behavioral Therapy, and Accelerated Resolution Therapy. Our counselors recognize that traditional talk therapy with a child is often not adequate to address their clinical needs and that the most important relationship in therapy is between the parent/caregiver and child. Counselors provide psychoeducation to parents and caregivers about trauma, the brain, and attachment. They facilitate playful interactions between children and parents to strengthen relationship and restore a feeling of safety.

When a child is referred to Family Enrichment Services for counseling, our intake coordinator gathers all of the information we need to get started including checking Medicaid eligibility, the availability of the family for in-home visits, and the presenting difficulties. She then matches the child and family with a clinician in their area. The child and family come to our office for an initial assessment, and then all future services occur in the family's home. Because our clinicians work with the child and caregivers/parents together, their sessions mostly occur in afternoons/evenings when children are finished school and parents are home from work. We bill Medicaid for the sessions that we provide.

We currently have two full-time clinicians and one part-time clinician who cover the Clearwater area. These three clinicians have served 28 children from Clearwater and their families since the beginning of this year. This additional funding will go to support our counseling services for Clearwater families only.

Urgency*

Please describe how the proposed programming is addressing a time-sensitive community need. You may cite data sources.

Why PCF asks this: The City of Clearwater has indicated that this funding should be directed to programming addressing urgent needs.

A grandmother is at risk of losing her job because of her 9-year-old's school truancy. A new adoptive mom and dad are considering returning their 5-year-old to foster care after he harmed their family dog during a tantrum. A 12-year-old is in JDC after hitting his foster mom in the head. When he is released, it will be to a different home, separate from his siblings. These are the stories of just three families we are currently serving in Clearwater. The needs of these children are urgent and impact not only the child, but also the family and larger community. According to Kaiser Family Foundation, Florida is meeting only 21% of its residents' mental health needs--needs that if left unaddressed contribute to unemployment, substance abuse, homelessness, incarceration, suicide, and poor quality of life. Children in foster care are four to five times more likely to suffer from mental health issues. Our clinicians have served 28 of them and their families since the beginning of this year, providing family-focused and trauma-informed counseling services that are stabilizing children and families. Our clinicians are preventing costlier services like Baker Acts and involvement in the court system. They are collaborating with teachers and school partners to help manage behavior problems in the classroom and reduce school truancy. They are preventing the compounding of trauma that comes from placement disruptions and adoption dissolutions. They are providing psychoeducation to parents and offering strategies that leave parents feeling more hopeful and confident about their parenting abilities. Our clinicians are meeting these urgent needs. This additional funding will allow them to maximize their impact for vulnerable children and families in Clearwater.

History in Clearwater*

Please describe how long you've been providing services in the City of Clearwater, and the nature of such services.

Why PCF asks this: Given that the City of Clearwater is the funding source for this grant program, PCF may prioritize organizations headquartered in Clearwater or those that have a strong presence in the City.

Although the physical location of Family Enrichment Services is in Pinellas Park, all of our clinicians work with families in their homes. We currently have two full-time clinicians and one part-time clinician serving the Clearwater area. These three clinicians have been providing counseling services to 28 Clearwater children and their families since the beginning of 2023. Family Enrichment Services has been providing counseling and related services in Clearwater since it's founding in 2006. Since 2011, our clinicians have provided in-home counseling services to over 400 Clearwater children and their families.

Family Enrichment Services has always been committed to providing high-quality counseling services to the most vulnerable families. The vast majority of the families that we serve qualify for Medicaid either because of their low-income status or the child's involvement in the foster care system. These families cannot afford to pay out of pocket for counseling services, and their needs are often more extensive than what telehealth can provide. Our clinicians support the entire family in their homes in the evenings when children and caregivers are home from school and work. Our clinicians have stabilized family units, keeping children in their homes and preventing costlier services like Baker Acts and residential treatment. They have prevented involvement in the juvenile justice system. They have prevented the compounding of trauma that comes from removal, disruption, and adoption dissolution. Healthy children living in healthy, stable families are less likely to experience problems like homelessness, joblessness, domestic violence, substance abuse, and incarceration in adulthood. Healthy families build healthy communities.

Language Capacity*

To what extent will your organization provide the proposed programming in languages other than English? Be specific as to written/digital materials and staff capabilities.

Why PCF asks this: Approximately 20% of Clearwater residents speak a language other than English in their homes (ACS Community Survey, 2021 1-yr Estimates). msocom 1 PCF is interested in your ability to reach these residents.

One of our full-time clinicians currently serving the Clearwater area is bilingual in English and Spanish. She has several Spanish-speaking families on her current caseload. Although she currently serves Clearwater and surrounding areas, with this additional funding, she and one other clinician will be designated for Clearwater families only. Each full-time clinician with us carries a caseload of approximately 35 clients and facilitates between 22-25 counseling sessions per week.

All of our sessions are family-focused and include parents in some capacity. Sometimes parents are included in the entire session with the child. Sometimes the clinician has a session with just the parents to provide psychoeducation about trauma or the brain or parenting strategies. Working with parents who only speak Spanish can be challenging for a clinician who doesn't also speak Spanish, particularly if a clinician is depending on a child to communicate certain ideas or themes to their parents. Our bilingual clinician has been able to effectively work with Spanish-speaking families by including parents who speak only Spanish in sessions with their bilingual children just as she would with other families. Her ability to speak Spanish has helped her connect with Spanish-speaking parents to identify additional needs and link them with needed supports and resources.

Outcomes*

Define one to two outcomes already being measured by your organization in relation to the programming this grant would support. This should be the outcome of the overall programming itself. Outcomes are not the number of people you will serve, but how they or their situation will change.

"Outcomes - are specific, measurable statements that let you know when you have reached your goals. Outcome statements describe specific changes in your knowledge, attitudes, skills, and behaviors you expect to occur as a result of your actions. Good outcome statements are specific, measurable, and realistic."

(W.K. Kellogg Foundation Logic Model Development Guide)

Example

80% of youth involved in peer counseling will show increased emotional intelligence after six months of participation.

Why PCF asks this: PCF considers measurable outcomes to be a cornerstone of effective social service programming. Tracking outcomes allows both an organization and its supporters to know how effective its programming is and helps an organization improve its programming over time.

OUTCOME #1 - 80% of clients receiving at least 5 hours of services will report a decrease in the child's presenting problem behaviors.

OUTCOME #2 - 80% of clients receiving at least 5 hours of services will report an increase in the child's usage of positive and healthy coping skills to manage distress.

Measurements*

Explain what measurement tools you will use to evaluate the stated outcome(s) above. That is, how will your organization know it is achieving or not achieving the outcome(s) stated above? Stronger requests will use a validated tool or method of data collection.

Example

Peer Counseling Services administers the Schutte Self Report Emotional Intelligence Test before counseling begins, and in six-month intervals thereafter.

Why PCF asks this: PCF would like to know how the outcome(s) you've specified are measured, and if you used a validated tool that has been proven in usage outside your organization. If you've developed your own tool, please describe how it was made.

All of our counseling clients work with their clinician to develop a treatment plan at the beginning of services. All treatment plans have specific and measurable objectives that relate back to decreasing problem behaviors and increasing usage of healthy coping skills. For example, a child who hits his foster parents every time he is angry might have an objective to refrain from hitting others 8 out of 10 times when angry (measuring a decrease in presenting problem behavior). The same child might have an objective to use calm words to express anger 8 out of 10 times (measuring an increase in usage of healthy coping skills to manage distress).

Together with the family, the clinician tracks and records the child's progress on each treatment plan review over the course of treatment. All treatment plans are reviewed and updated every five months. At the time of case closure, progress is captured on a discharge summary and uploaded to the client's Electronic Health Record. An objective is marked as successfully achieved when there has been at least a three point increase in the progress rating over the course of services.

This data is collected by the Performance and Quality Specialist who prepares a report for the entire PQI (Performance and Quality Improvement) committee to review. The PQI committee is comprised of representatives from each program and meets quarterly to discuss data collected, trends in service delivery, and ways we can improve and strengthen services for families.

In addition to treatment plans, clients are offered a satisfaction survey at the time of every treatment plan update. Families are encouraged to provide specific feedback that we can use to strengthen our programs.

Depending on the age of the child, we may use other validated tools to capture progress over time. These include Ages and Stages Questionnaires and Parenting Stress Index. All measures used inform us of the outcomes listed above.

Grant Specifics

Grant Impact*

How would this grant help your organization and its clients achieve the outcomes stated above? That is, what would you be able to do with this funding that you otherwise could not?

This has been copied from your LOI. Please expand in this question to describe how this grant expands services.

Why PCF asks this: The intention of this grant is to fund organizations providing support for individuals and families in Clearwater with emergency housing and social services needs. How that support happens, and how this grant could help, differs from organization to organization. PCF would like to know specifically how this grant would help your organization and the clients you serve.

A grant of $63,000 would enable us to hire two full-time clinicians to serve children and families in Clearwater. Although we bill Medicaid for the counseling sessions our clinicians provide, our clinicians do many other things for our families that are not billable to Medicaid. This includes driving to client homes, documenting sessions and other correspondence with families, attending staffings and accompanying clients to court, providing crisis support over the phone in between sessions, staying longer than an hour for a session during a crisis to prevent law enforcement calls and Baker Acts, preparing summaries for clients, and linking families to other needed resources.

Since the pandemic, we have noticed both an increase in mental health needs and referrals as well as a decrease in the number of clinicians applying to do this crucial work with us. We have lost several of our clinicians to new private practices and small agencies serving families who can afford to pay out of pocket for services. The addition of telehealth has made mental health services more accessible for a lot of people; however, the clients we serve largely have greater needs than what telehealth can provide. Along with billing Medicaid for counseling sessions, a grant of $63,000 will enable us to be more competitive in hiring two high-quality, highly trained clinicians to provide counseling services to vulnerable children and families in Clearwater.

Full-time clinicians typically carry a caseload of around 35 children and provide between 22-25 hours of counseling per week. Two full-time clinicians designated specifically for Clearwater would be able to provide counseling services for 70 children and their families. As children and their families demonstrate improvement, our clinicians reduce the frequency of services, ultimately ending services and empowering parents to use the skills they've learned to continue to manage behaviors as they arise. As children and families complete counseling services, our two full-time clinicians for Clearwater will be able to incorporate additional families into their caseload.

Reduction in Funding*

Due to limited funding, your request amount may not be fully awarded if it is moved forward in the grant process. How would reduced/partial funding impact your proposed program?

Why PCF asks this: The review committee that ultimately recommends proposals for funding may consider partial funding. PCF would like to know upfront what impact this would have on your proposal.

All of our current clinicians bill Medicaid for their sessions. Full-time clinicians bill approximately 22-25 hours of counseling per week. The money that Medicaid reimburses pays for our clinicians' salaries as well as overhead costs like clinical supervision, checking Medicaid eligibility, and gathering paperwork from clients. It also covers administrative costs like HR and payroll. Unfortunately, Medicaid has not increased their rates of reimbursement in many years. Mental health needs have increased since the Covid-19 pandemic, and clinicians have found opportunities to work online providing telehealth services to families who can pay out-of-pocket. The families that we serve largely have needs greater than what telehealth can address and often cannot afford to pay out-of-pocket for services. Although Family Enrichment Services has learned how to maintain quality and enrich lives with a limited amount of resources, there are fewer clinicians willing to work with challenging and vulnerable families for Medicaid rates of reimbursement. The impact is that the most vulnerable children and families are having to wait for services, sometimes for months. This additional funding would give us the opportunity to hire highly skilled clinicians specifically designated for vulnerable families in Clearwater. Together with Medicaid funding, our clinicians will be able to meet the clinical needs of families outside the scope of what Medicaid covers.

Sustainability*

Given that this funding is time-limited, how does your organization plan to sustain the programming expansion? If there is no sustainability plan, how would your organization effectively wind down the expansion when this funding ends?

Why PCF asks this: Due to the size and potential impact of this grant, PCF would like to know how clients would be supported after the grant period ends.

Family Enrichment Services has been providing in-home, family-focused, trauma-informed counseling services to children and families in Clearwater since its founding in 2006. Medicaid reimburses us for counseling sessions and treatment plans, and because the rates of reimbursement have not increased in many years, our agency has learned how to stretch our impact with limited funding. We collaborate with many community partners so that our clinicians can focus on clinical needs and still make sure that the families we serve receive all of the support and resources they need to be successful. We have partnerships with USF, Lutheran Services Florida, and the court system, providing child-parent psychotherapy for young children and their parents who are involved in drug court. With permission from the family, we collaborate with anyone else involved in a child's life including case managers, teachers, guardians ad litem, and pediatricians.

This additional funding is an investment in high quality mental health care for the most vulnerable children and families in Clearwater. It will enable our agency to be more selective in hiring two highly-trained clinicians to serve Clearwater families. It will allow us to spend more time developing and strengthening relationships with other Clearwater community partners that will support families and continue even after this funding ends.

We are actively working to secure diversified funding to strengthen our programs for the families we serve. In addition to writing grants and partnering with other agencies, our Board of Directors is currently planning out first agency fundraiser.

The more specific your line items, the better. Any staff member(s) that would not be 100% funded by this grant should be shown with the time and effort that would be allocated to this grant.

Clearwater-Budget-Detail FES.xlsx

We would like to hire two full-time clinicians specifically designated for vulnerable children and families in Clearwater, FL. The full-time salary of each clinician is $56,000, or $112,000 for two clinicians. Two full-time clinicians costs the agency an additional $28,532 per year in fringe benefits. These costs for two clinicians include FICA ($8,568), Unemployment ($364), Workmans Comp ($2,800), and Health Benefits ($16,800).

Although our clinicians provide therapy in clients' homes, we do not reimburse for mileage at this time.

Capital Purchases*

Capital expenses in your proposal should be shown to remove barriers to expanding services. Please describe below:

1. What percentage of your request is capital?
2. Describe why capital purchases are needed, and how they directly support the programming described in this proposal.

If your request does not include capital purchases, write "N/A" below.

Why PCF asks this: Unlike other local opportunities using ARPA funding, this grant opportunity is not meant to primarily fund capital needs. While capital purchases are permitted, the acquisition must be connected to your programming and should be helping unlock operational resources.
